SOCCER SOUNDS BETTER WITH ELECTRO-VOICE®, DYNACORD® AND MIDAS®

Partizan Belgrade, the team coached by German Soccer legend Lothar Mathäus, has made a brave start in the European Champions League. Invariably impressive at Partizan's home games is the quality of the sound

Belgrade, Serbia/Straubing, Germany (November 26, 2003): On the 16th of September 2003, Partizan Belgrade beat the Portuguese champions, Porto, 1:0, and not even Real Madrid, with their exorbitant line-up of world stars, were able to intimidate the team coached by Germany's most-capped player of all time, Lothar Mathäus. In Madrid, Real won by a solitary goal, whilst in Belgrade, Partizan were able to silence the heavy artillery of Ronaldo, Raúl, Figo, Beckham and Zhidane and hold out for a 0:0 draw. In fact, had it not been for a trademark reaction save in extra time by Casillas from Ilic's volley, the Madrilenians would have gone home empty-handed.

These were respectable performances in a difficult group. No less impressive than the performances on the field is the backdrop provided by the Partizan stadium. Mega Music, the Serbian light and sound specialists, are responsible for the quality of the sound both during matches and at the post-match press conferences. Knowing that millions upon millions of football fans all over Europe are following the Champions League, and desirous at all costs of avoiding a technical 'own goal', Mega Music decided to rely exclusively on equipment from EVI Audio:—
